DEDICATED IN BROOKLAND

Impressive Ceremony at St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Church.

Cardinal Gibbons Officiates, Assisted by Many Distinguished Clergymen

-Bishop Keane's Sermon.

About one hundred of the clergy took part in the dedication of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Brookland, which took place yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Cardinal Gib-The procession moved in solemn grandeur around the church, the Catholic Knights of St. John drawing up in the rear. After the ceremony outside the cardinal and clergy entered the building, where the services were completed. The esponses were made by a special choir of priests from the university, with Rev. Father Commings as organist. These were accommodated inside the sanctuary rail, as also were a number of prominent clergy. At the completion of the dedication grand high mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Hyvernot, with Rev. Joseph Carr as dea-con, Rev. Father Shehan as subdeacon and Rev. Father Carlon as subdeacon and services, while the choir of the hurch, with Prof. Carl Burg as director and Mrs. Chas. Hetfield as organist, sang some special music for the occasion. Near the close of the mass Cardinal Gibbons addressed the congregation, congratulating them on their new temple of worship, and urging that they appreciate this blessing and contribute generously toward its sup-

Bishop Keane's Sermon. At the conclusion of these services Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University, lelivered an interesting sermon. After a ew remarks about Rev. Father Fogerty, whose death occurred Saturday evening, he proceeded to tell how a church, a temple of God, is likewise a temple of sacrifice. He spoke of the prevalence of sacrifices in the old law, when a lamb was offered up pure, it nocent lamb, which was a type of he greater Lamb of God who was later to lay down His life for His flock. He lin-gered at length upon the last supper, when he sacrifice of the new law was instituted. when no longer was the lamb of old to be offered to the Creator, but Christ himseli in the unbloody sacrifice of the Son of God on the cross. In conclusion, he urged the congregation to make good use of this temple of sacrifice, and to spread its wonderful work to all mankind. Bishop Keane spoke in his usual, easy, graceful style, which kept the interest alive to the end.

At the end of the sermon Cardinal Gibsome administered confirmation, and gave few words of advice to those confirmed. After the services were over the congrega-tion were entertained at Miss Margot's residence with refreshments. This was in charge of Miss Emily Brooks, who was assisted by Miss Genevieve Spencer, Miss Sydney Johnson, Miss Alma Noyes, Mrs. Dowling and Miss Josephine Blake.

The Clergy Entertained.

The congregation entertained the clergy at a dinner at the house formerly occupied by the chapel. Owing to the sudden death rather Fogerty, many who had accepted this hospitality were obliged to decline in order to attend the funeral services at Providence Hospital. Among these were Bishop Keane, several of the professors of the university and some of the students. Though covers had been laid for thirty-five the number was relief to them. or forty, the number was reduced to twen-ty-three. The table was banked with flowor lorty, the number was reduced to twen-ty-three. The table was banked with flow-ers and ferns, with red, the cardinal's color, and yellow and white, the papal colors, predominating. The room, too, was draped in these colors, and in every way possible the red, white and gold were abundantly displayed. Cardinal Gibbons sat at one end of the table and Rev. D. C. De Wulf, the pastor of St. Anthony's, at the other, and around them were grouped professors of the university and prominent clergy of the District. This dinner was the work of the congregation and was under the supervision of Mrs. Louis Jullien, assisted by Mrs. Fitzgerald, Mrs. McNamara, Mrs. Charles Hetfield, Miss Nellie Brawner, Miss Clara Noyes, Miss Martina Yznaga, Miss Fannie Brawner, Mrs. Noel, Miss Suilivan and Miss Addie Jullien. Many from the city attended the ceremony, as well as the Knights of St. John and the St. John's Drum Corps, which played during the ceremony. Among those present were Rev. Dr. Garrigan and Rev. Dr. Bouquillon, who were assistants at the throne of Cardinal Gibbons: Rev. Dr. Pace, Rev. Dr. Shan-nahan, Rev. Dr. Gunn of the Marist Fa-thers, Rev. Dr. Francesca of the Holy Cross Order, Monsignor Sharetti, Rev. Father Noel, Rev. Father Gillespie of St. Aloysius, Rev. Father Richards, president of George-tewn College; Rev. Father McGee and Rev. Father Gloyd of St. Patrick's, Rev. Father

McMahon and Rev. Father Hopper. Be-sides there were many students and pro-fessors from the Catholic University and others of the Holy Cross Order, Marist Fathers and Paulist Fathers. Not According to Schedule.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: Will The Star, which is ever on the alert to speak for the public, kindly give place to the following facts:

The River Queen was advertised Friday to make certain trips to and from Marshall Hall, including one from the latter place at 7:30 p.m. The boat arrived at the wharf only a few minutes late, and those who had arranged to return home by the early boat, as advertised, immediately got on board, expecting to leave for home in a few minutes; but after waiting for some time, the boat backed down the river and allowed the Macalester, just arrived from Washington, to land her passengers. After the lapse of a short time the Macal-ester steamed down the river, and the River Queen again took her place at the wharf, and remained there until 9:20 p.m., before leaving for Washington, very much to the discomfort of the passengers who had been on board nearly two hours, and to whom not a word of explanation had been offered.

It is respectfully submitted that some one is to blame in this and similar cases; and it is not the first instance of the kind, for two of a party of nine on board with whom the writer was associated had before been subjected to such delay and annoy-

There certainly was no necessity for delay last evening, for either boat could readlay last evening, for either boat could readily have carried all the people at Marshall Hall and had room to spare. Treatment of this sort is calculated to make the patrons of Marshall Hall think that the company managing it cares not for the inconvenience families are put to in keeping the little children they have been endeavoring to benefit by a day's outing two hours beyond the time they should have been retired.

Let the company run its boat by the Let the company run its boat by the schedule, except when absolutely impossible to do so, in which event the officers of the boat should be so advised, that they might be enabled to inform their passengers of the probable time of departure, so that if they must remain they can choose gers of the probable time of departure, so that if they must remain they can choose whether it be on board the boat of on shore.
